Council will hold hearing Oct. 11 about one-payment plan

City Administrator Sean Joyce told the City Council Tuesday evening that if over 1500 of the 3600 customers paid a one-time fee of $338 on the water assessment before May 31, 1995, water customers will save $66,592 in interest payments associated with the longer pay-off, and Sanwa Bank would be paid back by June 30, 1995.

Councilman Gary Adams urged Joyce to come up with an incentive for water customers to pay that large fee, and he suggested a saving of 8 percent. However, Mayor MaryAnn MacGillivray pointed out that the city would be about $40,000 short of the $509,000 pay-off to Sanwa if those residents who take the one-time route of $338 get a break.

"Also, we'll know by Oct. 11 if Arcadia will need to buy water from us. If we can sell more water to Arcadia, we'd have more money available and perhaps could allow the $338 payers to pay 8 percent less," Joyce said.

By paying this amount via the one-time assessment, Joyce explained that the bank would be paid and the sewer bill would be paid. "And those who can't pay the $338 would pay in increments up to May 30, 1996," he explained.

Several members of the audience argued whether enough residents would take the council up on the $338 deal. Bob Oden said, "Enough people are upset with the mismanagement of funds as it is."

Another resident asked how the payment would be handled if an apartment house had one meter for seven apartments and still another said he felt that a per unit charge is fair. Gurdon Miller said he would pay the one-time payment; however, he felt that assessments should be based on consumption. Dr. Paul Neiby asked the council to "figure out some way to base it (payments) on consumption."

The decision will be made at the Oct. 11 meeting, following the public hearing.

In a surprise move, the council voted unanimously to hold a public hearing on Oct. 25, to provide an ordinance to return the number of Planning Commissioners to seven.

The ordinance will be challenged at the municipal election in April, 1996, when the question of five or seven Planning Commissioners will be placed on the ballot.

Both Councilman Adams and Mayor MacGillivray vowed to campaign for five members at that time.

Caroline Brown reported research which stated that out of the last 372 months, seven members have been the rule for 359 of those months. For 23 months, five Planning Commissioners held office, so to speak.

News celebrates 14 years

Everyone is invited to the Sierra Madre News office on Monday, Oct. 3, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. for cookies and punch. We are celebrating the 14th anniversary since Jan Reed published her first issue Oct. 2, 1980, after purchasing the paper from R. Robert Evans.

The location is 9 Kersting Court, Sierra Madre.

City staff answers questions from residents about water

City Administrator Sean Joyce, David Cain, assistant city administrator and director of financial services, and James Mitsch, interim public works director and city engineer, have composed answers to the variety of questions, concerning the water rate structure, asked by residents at the last City Council meeting. Among those questions and answers are the following:

Q. Has the city always taken advantage of selling excess water to neighbors?

A. The city has traditionally sold its excess water rights when we know we have an adequate supply for local residents. Last year, Arcadia purchased 1400 acre feet at $119 per acre foot resulting in $166,000. Preliminary projections indicate that we may be able to sell 1000 acre feet or more this year for more than $120,000.

Q. Will water sales drop next year, and will the projections be flawed, therefore?

A. Water sales will probably decrease with citizens reducing landscape irrigation. The decreased revenue will pose a problem to the water department which relies upon water sales of 970,000 units to meet operating costs and debt obligations in 1994-95.

To counter these possibilities, the city could impose a flat "loan recovery fee" not affecting consumption rates. Some of the lost revenue may be recovered by the sale of additional water rights to Arcadia.

Q. Could the city implement a household tax based on the number of bedrooms per household?

A. This could be deemed obtrusive and a violation of privacy. This new water surcharge is not intended as a permanent or new source of local revenue.

Q. How did the water department get $1.3 million in debt?

A. The water department spent $3,159,344 on infrastructure projects from 1990 to 1992. There was an $844,154 bond trustee error recording a draw down charging a project to the CRA rather than the water department. Also, $379,125 was spent for projects in addition to the $1,936,065 bond proceeds made available from the 1988 bond issue. As a result, the artificially low rates of the water department resulted in a $552,347 loss each year since 1990. This depleted many reserves.

Q. What is being done by the City Council to prevent cost overruns in the future?

A. There is an annual audit conducted by an independent auditing firm. Residents will receive presentations before and following all audits. There are also annual evaluations of water rates based on a complete cost accounting referring to all water department costs.

Q. Will there be relief for those people who can't afford the surcharges?

A. There will be exemptions for all low income customers that met HUD standards. They can apply for such relief with the city's financial services department.

* * * * * * * *

The city offers a one-time fee of about $338 per water customer that can be due payable on or before May 31, 1995, that would serve as the customer's fee, eliminating payment of assessments "well into the future," say city staff members.

"This would provide a greater certainty for both the city and water customer that the funds would be recovered in full this year and that future surcharges for these same purposes will not be necessary," according to staff.

By relieving the debt obligation by June 30, 1995, water customers will save $66,592 in interest payments associated with the longer pay-off.

"This permits the timely repayment of our loan obligations so that we can move forward," says staff.

Sierra Madre Rose Princess sign-ups

It's that time of year again. The Sierra Madre Rose Float Association has begun its annual Rose Princess Selection Search for three princesses for the 1995 Sierra Mare Rose Court.

All interested and eligible Sierra Madre residents between the ages of 15 and 19 are cordially invited to sign up in Kersting Court this Saturday, Oct. 1, or Saturday, Oct. 8, between the hours of noon and 2 p.m.

The 1994 Rose Princesses will be present to sign up candidates and to discuss the selection process and Princess activities and experiences.

The three selected 1995 Rose Princesses will represent their city on the Sierra Madre Rose Float in the 1995 Rose Parade, will receive a variety of complimentary wardrobe and styling gifts and will make many community appearances throughout the year.

Being a Sierra Madre Rose Princess is an exciting and memorable experience and all interested candidates are encouraged to apply. For additional information please call 355-5549 or 355-7034.

Fire Prevention Festival Oct. 1

The 8th annual Fire Prevention Festival, presented by the Sierra Madre Volunteer Fire Department, will be held Saturday, Oct. 1, from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Fire Station No. 41, located at 242 West Sierra Madre Blvd., Sierra Madre.

There will be a variety of exhibits at the Fire Prevention Festival, including a blood pressure booth, emergency medical equipment, fire fighting equipment, home fire safety handouts, the Sierra Madre Police Dept. on bicycle safety and fingerprinting children, the use of portable fire extinguishers by Marx Bros., the U.S. Forest Service with Smokey Bear, Los Angeles Co. Fire with Yogi Bear's Shakey-Quakey Trailer, as well as representatives from Southern California Edison and Gas Companies. There will also be free batteries for smoke detectors donated by Eveready Battery.

The department will be selling hot dogs and sodas at the festival with proceeds going to the Sierra Madre Firefighters' Association. Free balloons will be given to all children attending the festival and there will also be a coloring contest with one of four videos being given away.

The officers and members of the Sierra Madre Volunteer Fire Department look forward to seeing the entire community at the festival.

Guess who's 80?

By Margaret Duran

What happens when someone who is ageless hits 80? I guess expressions of disbelief and amazement are in order.

Anyway, the redoubtable Mary Tumilty is reaching that venerable number today, Thursday, Sept. 29.

It is also time to recall her achievements and remind people of the Mary Tumilty Endowment Fund that was established in her honor and that provides help for the Sierra Madre Library. It is also a time to introduce her to those unfortunates who have never known her (I won't say to those who have forgotten her because barring acute amnesia or a strong blow to the head, once met, Mary T. is not forgotten).

Mary Tumilty was long active in the Friends of the Sierra Madre Library serving in many capacities and finally as president. She was instrumental in starting the Art Fair, the Wine Tasting and the Book Sale---the three most profitable library fund-raisers. She was chairperson of the Arts Fair for several years, and each year that she held that position the profits doubled. She worked in the state organization for 10 years, eventually becoming president of that group which coordinates the work of all the Friends groups throughout California.

Mary T. started work at the library in 1965 as a library assistant and worked her way through the ranks to become city librarian in 1975. During her tenure as library director, she initiated the Travelers and Collectors Series, a monthly music series, an outreach program to the homebound, a program for the hard of hearing, and many others. She introduced computers in the library and spearheaded the planning and fund-raising that resulted in the Jameson California Room, the Walt Wesley Computer Center, and the Dickinson Walkway. She chaired the Bicentennial celebration and thereby helped the library win a national public relations award. For her many accomplishments and contributions to the city, Mary T. was chosen Citizen of the Year in 1982.

At the time of her retirement in 1984,

Deja vu

With all the discussions concerning water bills and bond payments these days, it was with interest that we read a piece from the Sierra Madre News dated Feb. 25, 1971, which was brought in by one of our readers.

When he handed the clipping to me, he mentioned that an earlier bond election (note that it was an election) was proposed for such projects as the civic center complex (present police, fire and city office facility), water system improvements and repairs, "and library/improvements and park acquisitions and improvements."

Ralph Rule was Mayor then. For those of you who don't remember Ralph, he died several years ago.

The piece describes the group of people as "many of the same familiar faces often seen at community affairs, public hearings and council meetings." The piece further editorializes: "However, there were quite a few prominent, concerned and interested members of the community who were conspicuous by their absence---for whatever reason."

The piece continues, "It was brought to the attention of those in attendance that IF Sierra Madre was to survive as a town, the time hao come when we must do something...Many comments came from the orderly, open-minded and attentive group. A few expressed their lack of confidence in our City Council and their abilities, especially after hearing Mayor Rule state that monies from the Water Fund have been used during the past years to support other departments within the city government (Since 1967, water rates have gone up once and a second increase threatened but made in 'sewer and trash' instead.)"

Someone at that meeting in 1971 said he "didn't know where the problem was---maybe city administration, city government, department heads."

It was shown by the majority show of hand of 110 people present that the bonds would be supported in an election.

The bond election for $3,350,000 proceeded to the second Tuesday of June, 1971, and the results?

It failed. Water bonds failed by 170 votes; city hall failed by 734 votes; parks and library failed by 1110 votes. Out of the 5606 eligible voters, 2746 votes were cast.

Under the Pepper Tree

by Jan Reed

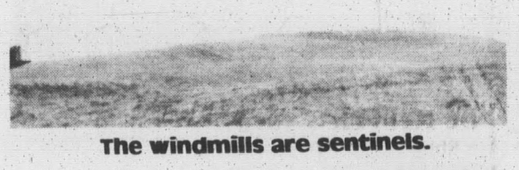

• Last week, for the first time in at least a decade, we took off on the spur of the moment for San Francisco. What a delightful ride through some of the most scenic areas of California. We would like to share some of the pictures I snapped out of the windows of the car. Enjoy them with us...

Viewing levels of mountains.

The windmills are sentinels.

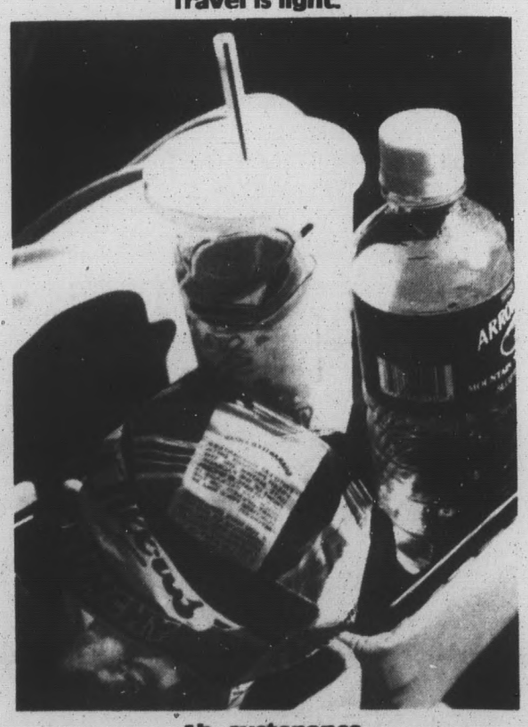

A relief of water.

A lesson in perspective.

Travel is light.

Ah, sustenance.

For the record

We all know, that in a democracy, it is the duty of citizens to be aware of how their government is run, and if they believe something is wrong, to do something about it.

It is shameful that a group of Sierra Madreans, who (as good citizens) were and are doing just that, have been ridiculed by some instead of being paised for their tireless efforts. It wasn't easy. It took a great deal of diggiing and research to discover the facts.

Events have proven that their concern was real. I find it difficult to understand how, over the years, the City Council (who in the final analysis is responsible for how the city is governed) seemed unaware of these conditions.

About your water bills

All Sierra Madre residents, taxpayers, voters, water bill recipients and others need to know once and for all that the current water bill crisis is the nightmare legacy of the former city administrator, Jim McRea, and the current three-senior City Council members who in the spring and summer of 1993 deflected all concerns regarding the performance of Mr. McRea. These concerns, presented to them in a 24-page report, supported by 37 pieces of documentation, were dismissed as trivial and inconsequential. This document has never been made public. It was signed by 23 concerned citizens who have gone on to monitor the entrenched, non-representative behavior on the part of these same three City Council members.

It is not the current City Administrator nor his hard-working staff who should be the brunt of your frustration and irritation with the cur-

Arboretum Walks

By Peggy Stewart

On Sunday, Oct. 9, we are going to walk right over to Ayres Hall at the Arboretum to spend the afternoon with Sharon Lovejoy. At 2 p.m. she will begin her slide show and talk about gardening -- gardening with love and whimsy and delight.

We already know of Sharon from her delightful book, "Sunflower Houses", which inspired the two sunflower houses growing at the Arboretum this summer. One house grew all Spring in the Roots and Shoots garden and provided a leafy green hideout for the children gardeners. Just last week we bid a sad farewell the sunflowers and morning glories close to the Home Demonstration Garden.

While Sharon gardens for all ages, she especially likes to intrigue children with the growing world. In her wonderful garden at Heart's East in Cambria plants are chosen to appeal to young people. There are pink strawberry blossoms and tiny pumpkins, a playhouse of wire and covered with red runner beans, soft furry leaves, and flowers to attract hummingbirds and buzzing bees. And you will want to meet "The Girls," Sharon's special garden friends and workers.

Sharon serves as an editor for "Country Living Gardener" and writes a newspaper column. Published just last month her second book, "Hollyhock Days" is filled with charming garden stories, interesting nature facts, delightful drawings, and plenty of garden projects. Sharon will be glad to sign her books after the talk.

Out and About

By Dick Rogers

Have you ever heard of the expression, "Small is harmful?" Actually, it was the title of a book by someone named Schumacher. He is (or was) an English economist popular back in the '70s. The basic concept is that when we become "largish" we seem to lose something in the process.

In seeking to make large out of small, it is usually in the name of profit (and frequently disguised in the name of efficiency). In a previous article, I mentioned Famous Amos Cookies. You may remember years ago that these cookies were made by hand, and they were exceptional. Today, they are made by some large food processing company, by machine, with a distinct drop in quality. Much of what is produced today follows a similar path. What in years past may have been superior products are, today, shoddy, cheap and second-rate.

Occasionally, you run across superior products. Organic food is a good example. It may not have the sheen of color of those super market apples, but the taste is superb. We have, in our acceptance of urban and suburban life, accepted the mundane and inferior. Folks get a lesson in this when they plant tomatoes and marvel at the way they taste.

This guy Schumacher would love the idea of Sierra Madre. Small town and small government fit nicely with his concept. Some could say, "So why are we having such a tough time economically?" He would probably answer it has something to do with what to expect out of our town. First and foremost, a town should be a place of peace and serenity for those who live there. We have that. It must involve its citizens in the workings of government...we have that (ask yourself if cities like Los Angeles or Burbank have it). A town must be responsive to its citizens' needs. We have the best response times for police and fire personnel in the county. But a rich town we are not.

If we like what our town provides us, we should work to find ways to provide the economic base for it to continue. We must do this because nowhere does it say, nor does Schumacher say it, that we should have a free ride...and that applied to every one.

Small is beautiful, but only in the eyes of the participant. I'll leave you with that nut to crack.

Look to the woolyworm

By Harry Martin

In the hot summer of 1787, our founding Fathers hammered out a new and unique nation. What wasn't new was something that had been a problem for mankind from the beginning...debt. The Revolutionary War left the colonies with a financial obligation amounting to $30,000,000. This amounted to $7.50 per person, and that small sum by today's standards was equal to a month's pay for the average worker, and the workday was 12 hours. Alexander Hamilton was the First Secretary of the Treasury, and he solved the problem by floating a bond issue for the required sum and paid off the lenders. The new nation started off in hook.

In 1929, 142 years later, the national debt was $29,000,000,000, and the per capita debt was $200. Now, 65 years later, the national debt is $4,000,000,000,000; that's trillions, and the per capita debt is $16,000 dollars. We Americans love to do things speedily and on a large scale, such as going into debt. Add to these horrendous figures state, county, municipal and corporate debt and you have some staggering statistics. Then add credit cards, individual bank loans and mortgages and it becomes unbelievable.

All this reminds me of an incident that took place 15 years ago. I had the good luck to meet an oldtime, old-fashioned country banker. His bank was in a small village of only 150 people, but it was touted as being one of the strongest banks known. It had survived wars, depressions, financial disasters and social upheavals, and all because there had always been honest, hard-nosed businessmen in command. This man, as he sat behind his desk, tieless, coatless, but resplendent in red suspenders, somehow exuded confidence. I wanted to visit the village church, so he offered to accompany me. We walked over a short section of brick paving, and suddenly he stopped, stopped over, and pointed down. I followed his gaze and finger and saw a small green worm covered with hair, and it was inching and humping itself over the rough surface. The banker, said, "Woolyworm, Going to have a tough winter." He said nothing more and we continued our walk.

When I peruse the daily financial reports, I often think of that square-jawed village banker and his rock-solid institution. He was a total success, but perhaps part of his success was due to the fact that he took time to look at the small and apparently unimportant things of life, and get from them a lesson and a prophecy. It behooves all of us to start looking to the woolyworms that are very much with us, and start preparing for a tough winter.

American Diabetes Association seeks walkers in San Gabriel Valley

Anyone with a pair of walking shoes who likes to walk, have a good time, and raise funds for an important cause can register for the American Diabetes Association's third annual WALKTOBERFEST though Old Town and historic Pasadena. With registration at 8 a.m. on Sunday, Oct. 2, the six-mile walk will start at Pasadena City Hall in the San Gabriel Valley. All walkers will be treated to live entertainment, guest celebrities from KTLA-TV and 710 TALK, a free lunch, exciting raffle prizes and rest stops every two miles along the route. The San Gabriel Valley area will be one of more than 200 cities nationwide to participate in this year's event which will directly benefit the more than one million people in Los Angeles County who have diabetes.

Participants can walk as individuals or teams of five or more. Many people prefer forming teams family, friends and co-workers so they can walk together and raise more money. The top money raisers in California will win two roundtrip Delta Airline tickets to either Europe, Asia, Hawaii, Canada or exciting U.S. destinations. Los Angeles County walkers are also eligible for a trip to Germany, courtesy of LTU International Airways; a river rafting vacation courtesy of South Bay River Rafters; a cellular telephone, courtesy of LA Cellular.

To raise funds to help find the cure and to register for WALKTOBERFEST, please call the American Diabetes Association at 1-800-254-WALK. If you can't walk, sponsor someone who will.

Corp asks for committee to discuss purchasing water from district

Charles Corp, a director for the San Gabriel Valley Municipal Water District, Tuesday evening requested that Mayor MaryAnn MacGillivray appoint a committee of two City Councilpersons to work with him and the District "to work out a plan if our need to purchase water from the district (becomes a reality)."

Because the item was not on the agenda, the Mayor could not discuss it; however, she told Corp that she thought it was an excellent idea.

Corp thought it would take about a year to come up with a plan; however, City Attorney Charles Martin suggested that it might take longer than that.

Corp also said he plans to meet soon with the General Plan Committee. He will bring District financial reports before the council in October.

Sierra Madre officer intercepts and arrests burlary suspects

Officer Reuben Enriquez of the Sierra Madre Police was able to stop and arrest two burglary suspects at 3:56 a.m. on Saturday, Sept. 24, at South Michillinda and Foothill Blvd.

The suspects are two males, one 40 years old of Los Angeles and the other 36 years old from Temple City. They were chased by Pasadena Police on several freeways for 28 minutes after which Enriquez observed them in Sierra Madre at Michillinda. The Pasadena police had lost sight of the vehicle when Enriquez spotted it, followed it and confirmed the license plate. After a short pursuit, he pulled over the suspects and discovered the stolen property in the auto.

Death, divorce, or caring for an incapacitated spouse, may place you in the position of having to make major financial decisions without benefit of adequate information or financial resources. This seminar will help identify what information you will need if faced with these stressful circumstances.
The following issues will be addressed:
✔ steps you can take to become more aware of your financial responsibilities
✔ immediate financial issues to address
✔ determining the "health" of your assets and monthly income
✔ changes to consider regarding your will, trust, and other estate planning issues
✔ the structuring of your income to provide life long security
✔ remarriage - financial and legal issues

Letters from home

We once lived in a very big, old house in a small midwest town. The climate was cold in winter and hot in summer. Dad said there were two seasons, Christmas and the Fourth of July.

The furnace worked well. Sleeping was good in that season. Summer was another matter.

A few folks had those new, little coolers that fit in the window. We envied the hardware man who had two, one for upstairs and one for downstairs. He sold them.

We hadn't entered the modern age, so on those sweaty summer nights, we would open the back door, some windows, put blankets on the floor in front of the open front door, and hope there was a little breeze to waft Morpheus our way.

It wasn't always easy. If the stock car races were on at the county fairgrounds, the rumble went on until 11 or so. Then the kids coming back into town and honked until midnight. The thumping of the municipal power plant never ended, but one got used to it and turned it off, like elevator music.

On normal nights, some coon dog, worried about a cat's taking a shortcut home after his date with a friend, would bark, and signal a counter bark from every Red Bone and Black-and-Tan in town, each wanting to join the imaginary chase.

That was about it for disturbance, except for an occasional owl hoot—and sleep was blissful, until Archie slammed the back door while leaving the house for his dawn milk delivery, and that started the inevitable bird chorus.

Hardly anyone is neutral on that early avian opera. I like it.

The yellow-breasted fly-catchers did the opening chorus, followed by the robins, orioles and sparrows. The later-rising wren, cardinals and jays did the encores.

But there was a morning breeze, and anyhow, the paperboy would soon stuff the scandal rag in the door. Rise and shine!

I always preferred the birds to the seven a.m. wailing wake-up of the city's fire siren.

We got to thinking about that last night at bedtime, with the thermometer reading 90 degrees here in the city. So we adjusted the thermostat that controlled the heat pump's cooling end, locked the doors, and turned on the security system.

We assume that the mocking birds sang all night.

Help needed with Richardson restoration

by Phyllis Chapman

Sierra Madre Historical Preservation Society is continuing work on the restoration of Richardson House and would welcome anyone who would like to help. Work parties have been scheduled for each Saturday in October beginning at 9 a.m. Just show up if you can help.

Richardson House is located at 167 E. Mira Monte, the start of the Mt. Wilson Trail. Work to be done is interior painting and landscaping. Well-known landscaper Lew Watanabe has been donating his time to help with improving the grounds of the historic site. For further information please call Society Restoration Chair Dane Lenton, 355-3905.

This is Sierra Madre's oldest home still standing and dates back to the 1860s. It was saved from demolition by the society in the mid-1970s, restored and opened each Sunday afternoon, along with the adjacent Lizzie's Trail Inn, free to the public for tours. The society is hoping to once again have the buildings open for the public. After the restoration is completed they are planning an open house featuring a special historic display.

Sierra Madre Playhouse plans fund-raiser

The Sierra Madre Playhouse, 87 W. Sierra Madre Blvd., Sierra Madre, will hold a fund-raising Book and Publications Sale on Friday, Oct. 7, and Saturday, Oct. 8, from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m.

The sale will offer bargain-priced items such as theater and film celebrity books, theater arts magazines, pictorial theater film programs, musical comedy books and scores, playbooks (one-act and full-length plays), special issue Life and Time magazines, Daily Variety and Hollywood Reporter issues, trivia books, miscellaneous hardbacks and paperbacks, popular song sheet music, records, plus a variety of other publications.

This presents an opportunity for the collector to find rare items and to help support community theater.

Good Shepherd's Fall Festival fund-raiser set for Oct. 1

By Fran Syverson

Browsers, fun-seekers, bargain-hunters, and hungry people will all find something to suit their fancy at the annual Fall Festival at Church of the Good Shepherd, Saturday, Oct. 1. The day of family fun and activity will run from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Attractions will include boutiques and crafts, a quilt show, children's entertainment and a variety of food stations.

A giant White Elephant sale will offer "previously owned" bargains. This popular event features housewares, small appliances, books, tools, clothing and children's games.

Craft Faire booths will display owners' wares near the church entrance at 400 W. Duarte Rd., Arcadia. Boutiques inside the church complex will sell both holiday and generic hand-made gifts and decor.

Adults will be as entranced as youngsters with featured entertainment. Navajo storyteller Geri Keams will weave tales of Native American lore at 10 a.m. The Minikin Puppet Co. will present "Fiesta on Strings" at 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. (Look for a monkey riding a bike...)

Jack Kelly and his exotic bird show will be on hand during the morning. At noon, Steve Silverman and Will Chandler are due to perform feats of magic and sleight of hand, including "Phantom of the Opera" presentation. "Up close" magic will be presented through the day.

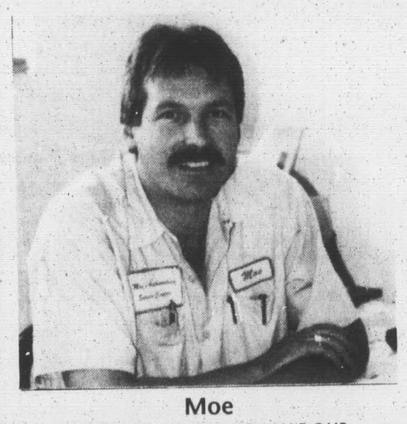

Good Shepherd's Chancel Choir, under the direction of Jack Lantz, will sing medleys of popular songs.

"Pieces of Memories" will exhibit dozens of quilts, both heirlooms and contemporary, draped over sanctuary pews. Anecdotal and descriptive notes are Moe says...

One client told me that his brakes are making a terrible squeaking noise when he applies them, then there is no noise when he releases the brakes. He asks if his brakes need replacement even though he had a recent replacement.

Repeated light pedal applications in stop and go traffic will often result in squeaky brakes. However, noise is most likely from dirty brake rotors or improper brake pad alignment. The recent brake pad replacement would most likely rule out noise from wear.

rent condition of Sierra Madre finances. The City of Sierra Madre's own municipal code, page 16, from our report states:

"...Article II - Administration, Chapter 2

City Administrator 2110 City Administrator as Director of Finance: The duly appointed, acting City Administrator shall serve as Director of Finance with the following duties:

(a) administer the financial affairs of the City;

(b) compile the budget expense and income estimates;

(c) maintain a general accounting system for the City government and each of its offices, departments and agencies; and

(d) supervise and be responsible for the disbursement of all monies and have control of all expenditures to ensure that budget appropriations are not exceeded...

(e) submit to the City Council...the end of each fiscal year...a complete financial statement and report..."

This is from the City Code, dated March 25, 1976, which governed our City and Mr. McRea. It was in effect when he was "interim" Cit Administrator and when he was appointed City Administrator on a motion made by Councilman Adams, during his first tenure on the City Council. There were no other persons seeking the position of City Administrator then as the job opening was not advertised. This, too, is an important piece of information for people to understand why our City is in such difficulty. At times there were various other people working as Finance Director, the most recent one, preceding Mr. Cain, was ill and unable to perform his duties at various times. In his stead, Mr. McRea was our Finance Director.

Our previous City Administrator ran this City's finances into the ground. We faced a June 30, 1994 deadline of repaying a bond and correcting the water department's fiscal depletion of $1.3 million due to illegal interfund borrowing by Mr. McRea. He did not see that we met the bond requirement that the water costs be duly borne by users with correctly reflected yearly increases which we now must correct for. In our most recent City Council campaign, only one candidate, Jim Hester, included in his campaign literature the $1.3 million water department debt as a concern of his. The incumbents did not.

Another item on our water bill, now being corrected, is directly attributable to Mr. McRea. He could not seem to recollect that we were insured to a certain extent against legal obligations which would pay for dumping in the Monterey Park landfill. Our current City Administrator, Mr. Sean Joyce, found an insurance coverage for a sum of $40,000, which is now reflected in the relief each is receiving on our corrected water bill so that you will not be paying these additional monies on your bill for another year or so.

People are distressed by the state of California's requirement that our General Plan include a Housing Element with 54 opportunities for new housing units within the next five years. They need to know that the former City Administrator missed several deadlines regarding this requirement. He could have appealed the number based on our unique size, locale/hillside abutment and restricted water conditions so that we could have met the requirement with far fewer units. Mr. Joyce knows that he will be able to appeal this number based on our situation at the next filing deadline. Mr. McRea also cost the City $84,000 in January of 1991 by not being able to follow another deadline for extending the Hillside moratorium and because of this our hillsides will be degraded with six inappropriate building sites and excessive grading.

Think of what our fiscal situation would be if Mr. McRea was still here. There are people who wish he was. There are some who fear he may be welcomed back someday by the three senior members of the City Council who were so reluctant to hear our concerns last year, or that of their colleague, Councilman Cline, who insisted independently and simultaneously with Steven Broiles, that we needed an audit. Six months passed while our concerns were being rebuffed as that of a "fringe element." The financial woes of this city were aggravated by that six-month delay. Today there is no fringe element when it comes to people who have been hurt by the administrative inadequacies of Mr. McRea. And the three Councilmembers who protected him but who now take credit for getting the City on track and are appreciative of having financial reports from the current Financial Director, David Cain, that were never properly prepared and filed by the former City Administrator.

You know I am not overstating the facts. Look at your water bill.

Community presentation at Integrative Body Therapy

"Your Immune System: Its Care and Feeding," by Dr. N. Rowan Richards is scheduled for 7 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 6, at Integrative Body Therapy, 90 North Baldwin, Suite 3, Sierra Madre.

This presentation is a community service offered by Juliette Hoffman and Renee Weaver and is free of charge.

Richards, a board certified chiropractic internist, has taken a three-year post-doctoral certification program specializing in internal disorders and environmental illnesses. Her presentation will concern the immune system.

She asks, "Have you ever wondered why antioxidants are so important? Have you ever wondered just why some minerals are poisonous and others so necessary for life? Do you realize that many puzzling conditions, including lupus, diabetes, rheumatoid arthritis and even chronic fatigue syndrome can be traced to malfunctions in the immune system? Do you realize that 90 percent of the immune system is generally undiagnosed by current medical testing?"

Hoffman and Weaver urge residents of the Foothill communities to attend this free seminar.

City staff explains allocation of 1988 bond for $8,584,437

City Administrator Sean Joyce explained recently that $1,936,065 went to the water department for infrastructure improvements, out of the $8,584,437 bond which was borrowed by the City Council in 1988.

"Bond documents specify the following accounting of the...bond," explained Joyce with the following figures:

- Prior obligations escrow, $1,453,099
- Cost of issuance, $75,000
- Debt service reserve account, $668,000
- Revenue account, $298,175
- Special Escrow Fund, $1,250,000
- City Loan Fund, $1,936,065
- Agency Loan Fund, $2,323,278
- Affordable Housing set-aside, $580,819

The above City Loan Fund is the portion of the 1988 bond proceeds available for water infrastructure improvements which resulted in an over expenditure of $1,223,279. An audit found that the CRA fund had, in effect, loaned $468,000 to the water department and that the sewer department has similarly loaned $797,566, permitting the water department to complete the water main, transmission line, rehabilitation of wells and street replacements.

The overexpenditure, said Joyce, was a result of "poor accounting of the financial position of the water department, poor cash flow resulting from artificially low water rates and an overstatement of available resources by the Bond Trustee."

In the fun zone, children can ride a ferris wheel, moon bounce, and rock and roll ride, or try for prizes at game booths. Crafts and clay play will be available for younger children. A Book Faire offers children's books for sale.

Winners of the "Blue Ribbon Cooking Contest" will be announced after the midday judging, and samples of their pasta creations will be sold while they last.

But there will be other food in abundance: rolls and coffee early in the morning, Chinese or Mexican lunches, hamburgers, hot dogs, nachos and popcorn, as well as "healthy snacks." A gourmet booth, a bake sale, and "Sarah's Sweet Sensations" will tempt other appetites.

Proceeds from the Good Shepherd Fall Festival are earmarked for mission projects. The church is active in its support of the Mexico Medical Mission which provides medical care for people in rural Mexico, of its youth Sierra Service Project in which students spend a week building or repairing homes on a Native American reservation,

Gordon and Elaine Rudolph of Sierra Madre flank Attorney General Dan Lungren.

Local people attend GOP convention

Gordon and Elaine Rudolph attended the California Republican Victory '94 Fall Convention Sept. 16 to 18 with Senate Minority Speaker Robert Dole as keynote speaker.

Governor Pete Wilson was the luncheon speaker on Saturday, and he stressed the positive business future for California, according to the Rudolphs. Wilson told the group that you "jump-start new jobs by offering a $1000 tax credit for each new job created by a new small business," a universal approach to environmental regulations that can provide better environmental protection and make it easier for Californians to create new jobs.

Another highlight, especially important to Sierra Madreans, was the Resolution "Commending Antonovich, Mountjoy and Hoge for their dedication to working diligently with the Democratic Party Leadership by offering legislative remedies and meaningful solution to the problem of illegal immigration, although the cooperation was lacking in the Democratic Party leaders."

Assemblyman Mountjoy was repeatedly proclaimed a needed member of the State Senate by Mike Huffington, Attorney General Dan Lungren, Matt Fong, Cathie Wright and Bob Dole.

Jordan Bennett sings at Auxiliary Luncheon

by Phyllis Chapman

A special treat is in store for those attending the Skilled Nursing Facility Auxiliary's annual benefit luncheon and fashion show to be held this Saturday, Oct. 1, 11:30 a.m. at Bethany Church Hall, 93 N. Baldwin. Jordan Bennett, a Sierra Madre resident and accomplished singer, will entertain as he sings a selection of favorite show tunes.

Bennett recently returned from an engagement in New York City where he sang in the production of Cyrano de Bergerac. This personable entertainer made easy listening as he delighted the audience this summer when he sang in Memorial Park on Sunday, Sept. 4, as part of the City's Concert in the Park series. The Auxiliary is very pleased Bennett is making this appearance at their special event.

Tickets at $15 each are still available says benefit Chair Lorayne Russman by calling her at 355-1388. This luncheon has also established a reputation for its delicious food.

Entitled "Fall Visions," the fashion show will be presented by Damon's of San Marino. Modeling an assortment of beautiful dresses, sportswear and accessories will be Auxiliary President Phyllis Harris, Olive Buchan, Celeste McCreary, Marjorie "Mama Pete" Peterson, Planning Commissioner Whilma Holcome, Russman, SNF Administrator Sharon Kurtz and Director of Nurses Pat Wilkinson.

Sierra Madre seniors look to winter activities

TIPS FROM MARCO

MARCO

Most people go to the hairstylist with a picture in mind. But forget that picture because it has a different shaped face than yours.
Do bring in photos of styles you like and let Marco mold your hairstyle to the shape of your face.
There are six different shapes in faces and next week we'll begin the series in describing them.

Obituaries

Edward LaLone Sr.

Edward Frank LaLone Sr., one of the founders of the Sierra Madre Search and Rescue Team, died at his home on Aug. 18 of an apparent heart attack at age 79.

Edward LaLone Sr.

He moved to Sierra Madre in 1924 with his parents, Fred and Margarite LaLone of New Mexico. According to the late Bill Wark, "The warm friendliness of the LaLone family was soon felt in the village, and their home quickly became a gathering place for old and young alike. The LaLone children loved the mountains, liked helping people and were often called upon to aid in finding lost or injured hikers in our mountains. And it was from this family group that the Search and Rescue Team was formed."

Mr. LaLone was one of the first in Sierra Madre to depart for World War II service. He spent 32 months in the South Pacific, half of that time involved in actual combat, principally the Guadalcanal and Bougainville campaigns. The Sierra Madre News article reported upon his safe return home: "He has witnessed the bombing of his convoy, dog fights in the air; he has known what it means to be in the fox holes 25 days without relief, subsisting only on C rations. He can also tell you how it feels to be desperately ill of malaria and tropical fever, not in a hospital...but in a fox hole."

Following the war, he and his brothers Fred, Julian, Robert and Earl utilized their prewar mountaineering experience by founding the Sierra Madre Search and Rescue Team. It came to be recognized as one of the finest in the nation.

Recently, an anonymous friend eloquently reflected on Mr. LaLone's many contributions to the community: "He was to the San Gabriels as was John Muir to his beloved Yosemite. He was a vanished breed. The mountains behind this town are greener because of him. The hiking trails are wide and safe through his efforts.

He was preceded in death by his wife of 41 years, Georgyne. He is survived by his daughter, Georgyne Jr., of Burbank; his son Edward Jr. of La Crescenta; his grandchildren: Witney Farnum, Edward LaLone III and Tristan LaLone; his brothers and sisters, Robert LaLone, Earl LaLone, Frances Finley and Alice McCarron.

A memorial service will be held at a later date.

Mary M. Bryner

Funeral Mass was recited on Sept. 19 for Mary M. Bryner, a 30-year resident of Sierra Madre. Services were at St. Rita Church.

Mrs. Bryner died Sept. 15.

Survivors include her daughter, Mary Ann Lee and grandson, Jeff Lee.

'La Salle Night...' Oct. 10

Green Street Restaurant in Pasadena will be hosting "La Salle Night at Green Street" on Monday, Oct. 10, from 3-10 p.m. Green Street will donate to La Salle a percentage of all monies collected from orders that evening. This includes all dine-in orders and take-out orders.

La Salle hopes that Lasallians, Alumni and friends will take advantage of a night of dining out and support this fund-raiser. Funds raised during the evening will go towards helping to pay for air conditioning in the classrooms.

Green Street is located at 146 S. Shoppers Lane in Pasadena. Reservations will be take for parties of 5 or more. For reservations or take-out, pleas call (818) 577-7170

Emergency Response Class starts Oct. 4, Pasadena

A series of classes, designed to train professionals who respond to emergency medical situations, is being offered this fall. The class starts Tuesday, Oct. 4, at the Red Cross Area Service Center at 50 N. Hill Ave., Suite 100, and the cost of 12 sessions is $1000.

Participation is limited and anyone who wishes to take the class should pre-register by Sept. 30.

Course participants will receive an Emergency Response Certificate valid for three years and a CPR certificate for the professional rescuer which is valid for one year.

The class trains individuals such as paramedics and those persons training to become an Emergency Medical Technician (EMT) with the knowledge and skills necessary to help sustain life, reduce pain and minimize the consequences of injury or sudden illness until advanced medical help arrives.

San Gabriel Fine Art Association art show, demonstration

San Gabriel Fine Arts Association has scheduled the annual Fall Fiesta Art Show for Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 1 and 2, at the gallery and Grapevine Park at 343 S. Mission Drive (one block west of the San Gabriel Mission). More than 300 eligible artists will be participating for cash awards.

After the show, scheduled Oct. 1 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and on Oct. 2 from 10 a.m. to p.m., the award winners will be exhibited Tuesday through Saturday during October. Hours are from 12:30 to 4 p.m.

Those wishing more information should call (818) 282-1448.

Morris Shubin will be guest demonstrator at the luncheon Sunday, Oct. 9, at Almansor Court Restaurant, 700 S. Almansor, Alhambra. The happy hour is at noon with luncheon a half hour later.

Those wishing reservations should call (818) 282-1448 no later than Wednesday preceding the meeting. The regular meal costs $15; however, the fish dish is $18.

Those who arrive after the demonstration pay only $2.

A PETITION has been filed by PETER MICHAEL FLEMING in the Superior Court of California, County of Los Angeles.

THE PETITION requests that PETER MICHAEL FLEMING, ROSEMARY GRACE BURKE AND DEBORAH ANN FLEMING BROWN be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's WILL and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The WILL and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court will previously filed 8-12-94.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on October 24, 1994 at 9:15 A.M. in Dept. 5 located at 111 N. Hill St. Los Angeles CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT TO the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in section 9100 of the California Probate Code. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the hearing date noticed above.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a formal Request for Special Notice of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in section 1250 of the California Probate Code. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

Upper Hastings trash pickup

Kathy Gregg

There will be a Special Trash Pickup on Saturday, Oct. 1 at 7 a.m., in Upper Hastings Ranch.

Anything that is properly bundled that two men can lift and that is left at the parkway by 7 a.m. this Saturday will be picked up by the city. This does not include paint cans, chunks of concrete or building materials.

It does include old furniture, hot water heaters, mattresses that have been rolled up, bags, small barrels full of trash, etc.

The city urges everyone to clean out backyards and side yards, garages, and get ready for the free pickup.

La Salle High School has rummage sale Oct. 1

The La Salle High School's Academic Boosters plan a rummage and bake sale at the campus on Saturday, Oct. 1, from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. Sale proceeds will be used to supplement the Academic Boosters' wish list fund. All donations are tax-deductible.

Donations will be accepted at the Brothers' residence during the following times: Thursday, Sept. 29, 7:30 to 9 a.m. and from 5 to 8 p.m.; Friday, Sept. 30, 7:30 to 9 a.m. and from 3 to 6 p.m. Morning drop offs will be curbside on Michillinda Ave. outside the Brothers' residence.

Prudential Preferred welcomes new realtors

Three veteran realtors have teamed up with the highly successful Sierra Madre office of Prudential Preferred Properties. Larry Haynes, Betty Reed and Clyde Towles were welcomed to the company by co-owners Preston Hawkins and Daniel Bryant, whose Prudential Real Estate Affiliates franchise covers the Foothills from Pasadena to Glendora.

Larry Haynes' background not only includes residential investment and land listings and sales, but also he is well-versed in all facets of construction as a consultant to civil engineering and surveying companies. He has conducted feasibility studies, planning, design and marketing for builders and developers and has a working relationship with federal agencies, city governments, etc.

Larry and his wife, Mary, make their home in Upper Hastings Ranch. Their sons, John and Robert, attended both Pasadena and Sierra Madre schools.

Betty Reed is well-known in the Sierra Madre community, having spent the last 25 years working in residential real estate in the Foothill communities. In addition, she is a life member of the Sierra Madre Friends of the Library and headed the book sale for several years.

A graduate of UCLA with a degree in psychology, Betty also holds a major teaching credential. For several years she worked in landscape design and has received the Professional Gardener designation from the Los Angeles County Arboretum.

As if not busy enough, Betty is a volunteer for the Wistaria Festival and is a member of the Arcadia Tennis club. Betty and her husband James have made their home in Sierra Madre for the past 31 years. They are parents of three children--Steve, Jay and Lisa.

Clyde Towles has enjoyed a successful career in real estate. He has received numerous honors and awards for his stop performance in the real estate field and is a consistent multi-million-dollar producer. Clyde was recently elected to a two-year term on the Arcadia/-Sierra Madre Board of Realtors beginning 1995. He has served on several committees for the Board and chaired its Education Committee for two years.

An avid sports enthusiast, he coached football at Blair and Monrovia high schools and was proud of his many winning teams. For 11 years he owned and coached a pro football team, the Orange County Rhinos.

Clyde attended both PCC and USC, where he was a music major. He no longer plays but loves to listen to big band jazz. He and his wife Phyllis have lived in Sierra Madre for the past 13 years. They have four grown children, all who live in the local community.

"It's a pleasure to welcome Larry, Betty and Clyde to Prudential," stated co-owners Hawkins and Bryant. "Their experience and professionalism reflect the standards we have come to expect from our Sales Associates. At Prudential Preferred, we believe our clients deserve nothing but the best from our people and we strive to give it to them with quality agents and top-of-the-line technology.

Larry Haynes, Clyde Towles and Betty Reed have joined the Sierra Madre office of Prudential Preferred Properties as sales representatives. They are pictured above with Dan Bryant, broker and co-owner; Manager Reni Rose and Vice President Phyllis Fritz.

Ask Dr. Tami . . . Pet Corner . . . This pet's for you . . .

Dear Dr. Tami,

I have a rabbit and a guinea pig. Is it all right to give my guinea pig rabbit pellets?

No. Guinea pigs are unique in that they can't produce their own vitamin C and they must get it in their food or water supply. Vitamin C deficiency results in scurvy. Symptoms of scurvy include loss of appetite, swollen painful joints, poor bone and tooth development, hair loss and bleeding from gums. Adequate levels of vitamin C are usually included in pellet diets for guinea pigs. However, improper storage and handling to the pellets results in loss of vitamin C. It is important that you don't keep guinea pig pellets stored for more than a few months and I recommend supplementing them with additional vitamin C. Since vitamin C is a water soluble vitamin what is not used it excreted by the kidneys into the urine.

If you have a question regarding your pet write "Ask Dr. Tami," P.O. Box 661270, Arcadia, CA 91066-1270

Hi, I am Scruffy the cream colored terrier mix, I am a female who is about 3-5 + years old. My animal I.D. number is: A010323.

Unfortunately I am a stray dog and available for adoption as of 9/9/94.

I am a small dog but I am very loving and quiet. I feel safe when I am close to someone's heart and also I love to sit on people's laps. I love to get attention and I also love to be cuddled I love to give kisses to people (hope you don't mind). I am not spayed so please make that a must on your list.

Odd Jobs and experts of the past

The history of the newspaper

by Barry Schwam

Contrary to popular belief, The Sierra Madre News was not the world's first newspaper. Actually, the first news-gathering tabloid was a Roman gazette called the Action Journal. or in Romanise, "Acta Diurna." It was started in 59 B.C. by Julius Caesar, who acted as its editor-in-chief and also its chief salad maker. Julius saw to it that the daily tabloid contained a variety of subjects. From its coverage of the social scene in the nearby town of Arcadiaramadias, to the latest updates in criminal trials, politics, plus births, marriages and deaths. (Usually in that order.)

Also, there was the entertainment page, featuring reviews of the latest executions playing at the coliseum. But instead of each individual reader buying or receiving their own individual coy of the paper, large copies were posted throughout the city, where most of the people would congregate. This served a three-fold purpose: there, the people could pay their coal and firewood bills, ship gifts of figs and grape leaves to their friends via the Roman Parcel Service (RPS), and stand around and read the newspaper, all in the same place. Plus, the Action Journal had no competition. The only other paper around was the Chinese Pao, or report, being published in China.

Naturally, the Romans didn't ever get to read the Chinese paper. But even if they did, it probably would have been Greek to them!

All this eventually gave way to the first really recognizable paper like the ones we have today. It was called the Nieuwe Tijdighen and it was first printed in Dutch. It concentrated on trade news but covered the social and political scenes as well. And it was probably the first paper to feature international news as its writers and publishers traveled extensively throughout the world.

This paper actually originated from a simple commercial bulletin which had been circulated among the merchants in the towns of Antwerp and Venice in 1605. Soon copies of the paper were being translated into English and French.

The English translation was picked up by a stationer named Thomas Archer who printed it without a license to disseminate the news, so he was arrested, and his version banned. I think that this license to disseminate might be similar to having a poetic license. Plus, if you're caught writing too fast, the fine is even worse! However, a friend of Mr. Archer's, Nathaniel Butter, decided to follow the straight and narrow, and obtained his license for the right to gossip through the printed word and eventually earned himself the title of "father of English journalism."

And on Sept. 24, 1621, the beginning of the "century of many newspapers" began, with various publications sprouting up all over the world.

Dane heads Homeowners/Renters Association

By Phyllis Chapman

Edith Thacher Dane was elected 1944-45 president of the Sierra Madre Homeowners/Residents Association at their September meeting. She has been serving on the board as the group's secretary.

The program for the evening was about the General Plan with speakers Doug Hayes, chairman of the General Plan Steering Committee, and Gurdon Miller, PlanningCommissioner.

Other board members elected were Don Albert, Art Artinian, Gwen Becker, Bill Chilton, Dorothy Hobiack, Kay Messersmith, Ralph Schroder, Jeanne Templeton, and Beverly Artinian as secretary. Margaret Buckner, immediate past president, will be in charge of programs and publicity.

Dane, known as "Edie" to her many friends, is a longtime resident of Sierra Madre with a devoted interest in the welfare of the community. She is a graduate of Vassar and has family connections with the prestigious Thacher School in Ojai, the oldest private school west of the Mississippi. It was founded by her uncle and then inherited and run by her father.

In taking office, the new president stated the importance of gathering knowledge about the city so the group can participate sensibly in community affairs. This is particularly true in our city's efforts to update the General Plan as required by the State.

Hayes stated that the committee is working to present the first draft of the needed Housing Element, a separate entity of the General Plan, to Sacramento before the holidays, which is required. However, the General Plan Committee is advisory and is reaching out to the community for as much input as possible. What do we want for our city's future?

According to the State, said Hayes, cities must now conform to their General Plans not as in the case of Sierra Madre's General Plan drawn up in 1972. It could certainly prove to be good protection against over-development. He said, too, that he would not be involved with this task force if he did not feel that it will have a very positive effect for Sierra Madre.

Gurdon Miller further emphasized this and remarked that General Plans are guidelines for cities and that any plan is only as good as citizen involvement. We are working to find the best ways to implement the plan and to ensure such as housing, transportation, seismic safety, conservation, circulation, noise, citizen safety, infrastructure must be studied and included. The steering committee will present their General Plan to the Planning Commission for approval and then it goes to the City Council.

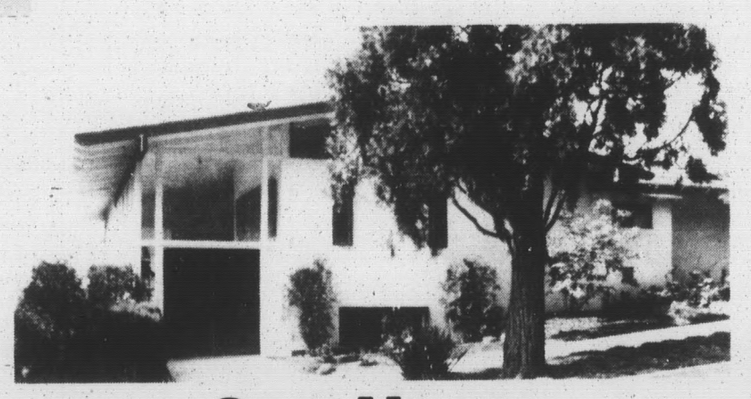

The committee will be meeting on Oct. 3, 24, Nov. 7 and 21, and another community forum will be scheduled in January. Meetings are at City Hall and they urge your attendance, ideas and suggestions. Also, if you have any questions, please call either Hayes at 355-6740 or Gurdon Miller, 355-4917.

Morley is speaker for College Women

John Morley will be the guest speaker at the luncheon meeting of the College Women's Club of Pasadena to be held at noon on Tuesday, Oct. 4, at Bullock's Garden Room, 401 S. Lake Avenue, Pasadena.

Morley is an officially accredited news correspondent by the United States and nations around the world. He has won 29 major awards for speaking and reporting. His trips around the world have brought him in close contact with famous people since the Stalin-Hitler-Churchill-Roosevelt eras up to the present day.

For reservations, please call (818) 794-5369.

Auditions approach for 'A Christmas Carol'

Auditions for Scrooge in the Leslie Bricusse musical version of Dickens' "A Christmas Carol" will be held on Sunday, Oct. 16, at 2 p.m., and Monday, Oct. 17, at 7 p.m. at the Sierra Madre Playhouse at 87 W. Sierra Madre Blvd., Sierra Madre.

All roles are open. Please call either the director, Pamela Sackett, at (818) 795-2766, or the theater at (818) 355-4318 for more information.

Also needed are a scene designer/technical director, lightboard operator, sound technician, and assistant stage manager. There is some pay for these positions.

Performances begin Dec. 2.

Faith Lutheran

By Pastor Dann J. Ettner

It is hard to love someone who is wrong! And of course, when ever you have an argument with someone, the other person is wrong. Jesus tells us in Luke 6:27-28, "But I tell you who hear me: Love your enemies, do good to those who hate you, bless those who curse you, pray for those who mistreat you." Even when someone isn't actually our enemy we have a hard time loving some people at some times.

How do we love those we have a hard time loving. Human reason teaches us we can't and we shouldn't. Jesus teaches us we should.

In order to answer this question we have to begin with a look at our own selves first. If it is hard to love someone who is wrong, then God must have a terrible time loving us who sin against Him on a daily basis. In fact, Scripture tells us that a sinner is an enemy of God (James 4:4) Thankfully, Jesus came to offer life instead of death. In Rom 5:8 we read, "But God demonstrates His own love for us in this: While we were still sinners, Christ died for us."

If Christ could love us while we were still sinners and enemies of God, then the task of loving our enemies does not seem quite so demanding. When it comes right down to doing it we have to bow in submission to our loving God, ask for forgiveness and the strength to overcome our weakness, and seek to do His will.

As we learn to love our enemies we will begin to be filled with a richer sense of peace. This is the peace Jesus began in our hearts when he first taught us to trust in His forgiveness of our sin won for us on the cross.

This Sunday, we will ask the question, "If you're so good, why are things so awful?"

St. Rita's

Contemplation, prayer, adoration and blessings

Every Friday after the 8 a.m. Mass, there is an Hour of Reparation for all parishioners. Starting Oct. 7 at 8:30 to 9:30 a.m. and every first Friday of the month there will be Exposition of the Blessed Sacrament and Benediction. Come and receive the blessings for yourselves, your family, and for your parish.

October devotions

Starting Wednesday, Oct. 5, there will be Rosary and Benediction every Wednesday during the month of October. The Rosary will start at 7:30 in the Church.

NAIM conference

The Pasadena Chapter of the NAIM (for widows) Conference will hold their monthly meeting Wednesday, Oct. 5 at 7:30 p.m. at the Assumption of the Blessed Virgin Mary Cafetorium located at 2640 E. Orange Grove Blvd., Pasadena. For more information call Mary Kay at 351-8265.

Fun Fund raiser: a Day at the Races

Ticket price includes admission to the races, steak sandwiches, hot dogs, salads, non-alcoholic beverages, baked goods, fun and excitement. Fabulous prizes are available in the "Triple Crown Stakes" and "Longshot Derby!" Don't miss out on the fun. Tickets will be available after all the Masses on Saturday evenings and Sunday mornings.

They're here!

Did you order a copy of the New Catholic Catechism--if so, they are now at the Rectory ready for you to pick up. Hours are Monday through Friday--9 to 11:45 a.m. and 1 to 3 p.m. The cost per book is $14.50.

Good Shepherd

The Rev. James W. Dallas, senior pastor, will preach at both the 8 and 10 a.m. services at Church of the Good Shepherd in Arcadia Sunday, Oct. 1.

The Adult Forum series on "The Law and You: Criminal Justice in the U.S." will meet at 9 a.m. Michael Fox, an assistant attorney, City of Los Angeles, will share his experiences and viewpoints. The Forum deals primarily with social issues relevant to the church.

Another option for adults during the 9 a.m. Education Hour is the "Scripture in Focus" class in which the Rev. James K. Thomann will lead a study of the Gospel of John.

Children may take part in the "Discovery Hour" at 9 a.m. while their parents attend the Education Hour. Children's Church School is at 10 a.m.

Child care is available all three hours.

The Chinese congregation worships in Hildebrand Chapel at 11:15 a.m., with the Rev. Matthew Chong officiating at the Mandarin Chinese service.

Church of the Good Shepherd is at 400 W. Duarte Road, Arcadia. Phone (818) 47-2181 weekdays between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. for information.

Painters to have showing at Library from Oct. 13–Nov. 6

San Gabriel Valley Tole and Decorative Artists will have a showing at Sierra Madre Library, 440 West Sierra Madre Blvd., from Oct. 13 through Nov. 6.

The local chapter is a member of the National Society of Tole and Decorative Painters, Inc. and they meet the second Tuesday of each month at 7 p.m. at Bethany Church, 93 N. Baldwin, Sierra Madre. Anyone wishing more information should call Nancy Olson at 248-1532 or Linda Sanday at 799-1640.

Contemporary decorative painting is a teachable art form because of the systematic methods that are employed. The use of either patterns or freehand designs allows a high degree of success without academic training or inherent drawing ability. Tole painting is a term that has been used historically for decorative painting on tin surfaces, especially in New England and by the Pennsylvania Germans.

"Entertainment" books

By Hank Landsberg Kiwanis Club of Sierra Madre

The Kiwanis Club of Sierra Madre is bringing the sale of "Entertainment" discount coupon books available to the community. Each Entertainment book contains hundreds of "2-for-the-price-of-1" coupons that are good at area restaurants, theaters, hotels, amusement parks, and other fun places. The Entertainment coupon books are being sold by the Kiwanis Club as a fund-raiser.

Entertainment books are available at Sanwa Bank and Household Bank in Sierra Madre.

Most coupons in the Entertainment book are "twofers," meaning that the bearer gets two meals (or admissions, etc.) for the price of one. Some coupons are simply cash discounts off of regular price. In either case, using the book just a few times is more than enough to pay its cost of $40. For 1995, the books have added discount coupons for several department stores, as well as "single diner" arrangements that allow a "twofer" coupon to be used for a discount when dining alone.

Some of the finer restaurants that have coupons in the Entertainment book include: Chez Sateau, Baby Joe's, Amedeo's Italian Fisherman, Dino's Italian Inn, Fu Shing, Kabuki Japanese Restaurant, The Peppermill and Kuala Lumpur. Some "casual dining" restaurants include: The Good Earth, Charleyville Cafe, Mijares, Shakers, I-HOP, and Masa Japanese restaurants.

The Entertainment book also includes discount coupons for the Hollywood Bowl, Pasadena Playhouse, Greek Theatre, SGV Light Opera, Caltech, and numerous other venues. There are also coupons for sporting events at Santa Anita Park, Anaheim Stadium, Hollywood Park and others.

The Sierra Madre Kiwanis Club is glad to offer area residents this opportunity to save money on the dining and entertainment, while also raising money to fund the Kiwanis Club's community service programs.

Sierra Club sponsors photography exhibition

With a new array of beautiful images, the Fourth Annual Photography Contest and Exhibition of the Pasadena Group of the Sierra Club will be held in the Main Hall of Pasadena's Central Public Library from Oct. 2-30. The library is located at 285 E. Walnut St., just northwest of City Hall.

The exhibit will be on view throughout October, on the following schedule: Monday through Thursday, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.; Friday through Saturday, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Sunday 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.

An opening reception will be held in the library's Donald R. Wright Auditorium on Sunday, Oct. 2, from 2-4 p.m. Admission is free to the exhibit and the reception; everyone is welcome.

Following the exhibition period, the photographs will be offered for sale at the annual Fair of the Pasadena Arts Council.

Sierra Club to host meeting on Oct. 5

Jane Henshaw, manager for waste reduction and recycling for the City of Pasadena, presents a program on "Recycling and the 3 R's" at the monthly meeting of the Pasadena Group of the Sierra Club, to be held on Wednesday, Oct. 5, at 7:30 p.m. at the Los Angeles County Arboretum, 301 N. Baldwin Ave., Arcadia (lecture room B, lower level at the main public entrance).

There is a direct connection between our recycling efforts and the beautiful oak-shaded canyons still left to us in Southern California. Come and learn how you can make a difference.

Sierra Club meetings are held the first Wednesday of every month. They are free to all. Newcomers are welcome. Information on hikes, conservation projects and other club activities will be offered. Call (818) 791-7660 for directions or further information.

On Stage

By Mary Cogswell Baum

One of the pleasures of mystery stories is that of being fooled. "The Veil" by Henry Slesar, newest production at Altadena's Theater Americana, can provide several joys of this perverse kind.

Theater Americana, by far the oldest established community theater in the area, has built its reputation on the production of original plays. They advertise widely in theater magazines and choose the most suitable to their purposes from the 200 or 300 that arrive every year. Going to a Theater Americana production is always something of an adventure. Some scripts are good, some are so-so. One cannot judge by the title of untried pieces. On the other hand, you may be a first to see the sparks of a rising playwright, or an experiment from a practiced one.

And, since the performers are amateurs, there is the question of whether it's the script or the actors that deserve the praise or blame.

It's a little like going to a concert by a good high school orchestra. Is that modern piece they are performing really supposed to sound like that? If the Philharmonic play is Eric Glass you are pretty sure it's what he had in mind. With an amateur group, you are not absolutely certain.

Theater Americana has undergone a renewal in recent years, thanks to an influx of young people, many of them connected with Caltech, and recent performances have been very good.

In "The Veil" the audience starts out fairly sure it knows what has happened, and does not much anticipate watching the characters piece together a "mystery" that has already been ineptly revealed - and then, aha, wake up, what was that? A new puzzle abruptly arises, and just as the solution to that seems likely, another event puts everybody back to square one.

Author Henry Slesar is an experienced writer for TV and has acquired Hitchcockian methods of leading the audience thoroughly astray.

The cast is excellent. Pam Childress is the epitome of "cosy aunt" who has engineered a gathering of the relatives and acquaintances of Rachel to try to solve her sudden disappearance. Rachel is the family eccentric who has hidden her face behind a veil since childhood because of an unsightly birthmark. She is also the trustee of her brother's inheritance. Thomas P. Liles is the brother, a young Hollywood producer in financial trouble. Greta Fadness is his actress wife. They do a fine job of demonstrating an edgy relationship. Brad Kahn plays the lecherous man you love to hate and Helen Wagner makes herself almost invisible as his embarrassed wife. Then there is Lacey Beers as a practical nun, guardian of a young psychic, played by Lisa Baur, who can shift expertly from withdrawn child to impulsive young woman. Len Charist is the appropriately inconspicuous gardener.

The only drawback to this entertaining play is the fact that, like TV scripts, it has many short scenes, indicating time lapses, and while the professional stage has developed ways to do the intervals between them neatly, few community theaters have the lighting equipment and expertise to make the necessity of shifting props suitably dark, noiseless and swift. This makes the play seem jumpy when it is actually quite smooth and concise.

Director Lynne Cooper is a Theater Americana veteran and keeps the salient facts nicely sorted out in this complex script.

"The Veil" plays at 8 p.m. on Sept. 30 and on Oct. 1, 7 and 8 in Heicher Hall at the AltadenaCongregational Church, 943 E. Altadena Drive, just east of Lake Ave. Both parking and theater entrance are down a driveway to the rear of the building.

For information call 683-1740.

Council recap

Gun-jewelry shop shot down

In view of the fact that her attorney has withdrawn from the case, Mary Card was given an extension until Oct. 4 to propose plans to bring her home and property at 533 Valido Rd. into city code compliance. The Arcadia City Council approved the 14-day extension at its regular meeting last week, when a neighbor presented a petition signed by 29 area residents requesting immediate action to repair or demolish the property.

In other action, the council unanimously approved a request for C. Hawkins Christmas Tree Company to lease 146-170 E. Huntington Dr. for the sale of Christmas trees. A request for waiver of a resolution to permit a gun and jewelry shop in the Central Development Project Area was denied on a 5-0 vote. Councilman Dennis Lojeski pointed out that the council spent a long time establishing a list of compatible business for the downtown area and that he was not interested in perpetuating inappropriate businesses.

Among the consent items which were unanimously approved were a recommendation to award a contract to Triangle Core of Consultant for asbestos removal management services at the Arcadia National Guard Armory up to an amount of $15,750, and a resolution declaring inapplicability of prevailing wages for the Arcadia Public Library Expansion project was also approved.

New parking penalty fees and late penalty fees, which replace the fee schedule last changed in 1987, were also approved by the council. New fees, which are comparable to those fees charged by other agencies within Los Angeles County, according to City Manager Bill Kelly, will generate an estimated $10,000-$15,000 additional revenue annually.

A decision on a request for financial assistance from the Arcadia Tournament of Roses Association was postponed until a future council meeting, while a request to approve one-night's hotel accommodation for Mayor Mary Young to attend a League of California Cities Conference was approved 3-1, with Councilman Lojeski casting the negative vote and Young abstaining.

Presentations were made by the council to Diane Naftzer in recognition for her four-and-a-half years of service as general manager of Santa Anita Fashion Park and to Meagan McClellan, Miss Junior American City Queen.

The next regular council meeting will be on Tuesday, Oct. 4, 7 p.m., in the City Council chambers at Arcadia City Hall.

HUGO REID BOOK FAIR - Matthew Scolinos, Mark Harrison, Carisssa Scolinos, Jennifer Adishian, and Paul Harrison are getting ready for the Hugo Reid Elementary School Book Fair, "Grow with Books."

'Grow with Books' for Book Fair at Hugo Reid School, Oct. 3-6

"Grow with Books" is the theme for the 1994 Hugo Reid Elementary School PTA Book Fair, which will be held Oct. 3-6, in the school's cafetorium.

Candace Lynch will offer a book review, with a chance for shopping in the cafetorium immediately following on Monday, Oct. 3 at 9 a.m. On Monday evening at 7 p.m., there will be a book reading by several Hugo Reid teachers and a raffle for two gift baskets.

Book Fair hours are 8:30 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. on Monday, Oct. 3 and from 8:30 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Tuesday and Wednesday and from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Thursday.

Proceeds from the Book Fair will support various PTA projects, including the purchase of new books for the school libraries. All books and related items will be provided by San Marino Toy and Book Shoppe.

Lee Adishian, Connie Harrison and Linda Scolinos are Book Fair chairmen. Call 574-7428 for more information.

New band uniforms introduced

New uniforms for the Arcadia High School Apache Marching Band have the same basic look as the 10-year-old uniforms they replace, according to Jim Barrows, who worked with his wife, Margaret, Bruce Bockhorn, former Arcadia Music Club president, and AHS music directors, Tom Landes and Tom Forbes, to coordinate the purchase of 300 new uniforms.

Last year's band numbered approximately 145 musicians, while 240 students have signed up for the program this year as AHS has gone from a three-year to a four-year institution.

The new uniforms, which adopt different looks for parades and field shows with a double pearson jacket, feature non-yellowing white, West Point bars and shoulder cords, which make them different than the previous uniforms. In addition, the new version has growth and breathing features and comes with a 15-year manufacturer's guarantee.

Total cost for new uniforms is approximately $115,000, according to Barrows, who explained that the Arcadia Music Club has contributed $30,000 and borrowed another $46-,000 from the Arcadia Unified School District for the project. The rest of the funds come from a student body account for uniforms and from the school district.

The new uniforms were introduced to the AUSD Governing Board at a board meeting earlier this month.

NEW UNIFORMS - J.B. Hughes, Laura Bockhorn and Cortney Kirkendall model new uniforms for the Arcadia High School Band and Auxiliary Guard. Hughes wears the parade uniform, while Bockhorn shows the version worn for field shows.

Hospital benefit to honor Chris, Judy McCarron

Jill Boli of Arcadia and Susan Hale of Bradbury are co-chairs of the Methodist Hospital foundation dinner dance committee, which is planning the Saturday, Oct. 1 event at the Ritz-Carlton Huntington Hotel in Pasadena.

"The Winner's Circle" is the theme of the event, which will honor jockey Chris McCarron, the first to win the Breeder's Cup Classic twice and a two-time winner of the Kentucky Derby, and his wife, Judy, president and founder of the Don MacBeth Memorial Jockey Fund.

A six-day customized trip to Switzerland, a gift from the Swiss National Tourist Office and Swissair, will be the highlight of a live travel auction. Other auction prizes include a week at the Philadelphia Phillies "Dream Week" training camp, a Crystal Harmony cruise via the Panama Canal, a seven-day Royal Caribbean cruise and a Napa Valley wine trip.

Music for the dinner dance will be provided by Murray Middleman's Park Avenue West.

Funds raised from the event will go toward the new patient tower project at Arcadia Methodist Hospital.

Members of the benefit committee are Arcadia residents June Fee, Karen Goodrich, Celia Kalm, Beth Wells-Miller, Ann McFarland, Viva O'Haver, Gloria Podres, Ernestine Ritter, Robin Stafford, Charlotte Streng and Mary Young; San Marino resident Sally Bixby; Sierra Madre resident Dee Moorehead; Gayle Ferra of Monrovia; and Betsy Weaver of South Pasadena.

For ticket information, call Methodist Hospital Foundation at 574-3742.

Food, contests, entertainment on Fiesta menu at Holy Angels

"Together As Family" is the theme of the Holy Angeles Catholic Church Fiesta, which will be held on Oct. 7-9. Friday hours are 6:30-10:30 p.m., Saturday from 1-10:30 p.m. and Sunday from 11-8 p.m.

The grand prize of $5000 will be awarded in a drawing on Sunday evening. Three other winners will walk away with between $500 and $2000 in cash.

A deep-pit barbecue beef dinner will be held on Saturday from 5-8 p.m. and on Sunday, 4-7 p.m. Dinner tickets at $6 for adults and $4 for children will be available at the door.

Bingo will be on Friday, 7:30-10:30 p.m.; Saturday, 2-5 p.m. and 8-10 p.m.; and Sunday, 2-7 p.m.

Entertainment will include a live rock and roll band on Friday night, country western line dancing, a '60s disc jockey and music videos on Saturday night and a live band, demonstration by Arcadia Dance Arts and the Sweet Adeline Quartet "Serendipity" on Sunday.

Prizes will be given for "Secret Agents," "Elvis" and "California Girls" look-alike contest winners on Friday, and on Saturday there will be a "Chipmunk" contest for kindergartners through third graders at 5 p.m.

For more information, call the church at 447-1671.

Volunteer orientation at Arboretum

"Discover the Arboretum," a comprehensive six-week orientation for new and prospective Arboretum volunteers, will begin on Tuesday, Oct. 4, 9 a.m., in the lecture hall of The Arboretum of Los Angeles County in Arcadia. Pamela Hames, vice president of Las Voluntarias y Los Ayudantes, is coordinating the program with Arboretum curator Sandy Snider.

Three-hour classes will be offered on Tuesdays in the classroom, in the grounds of the Arboretum and in the historical buildings, culminating with a welcome luncheon at graduation.

A slide show, "Meet the Arboretum," will kick off the orientation, which will include a tram tour of the 127-acre garden and a walking tour of the Plant Science Library, Foundation office and volunteer-staffed Gift Shop.

For information on becoming an Arboretum volunteer, call Snider at 821-3207.

Red Cross plans annual Octoberfest

The Arcadia Chapter of the American Red Cross will hold its annual Octoberfest and German Auction on Saturday, Oct. 15, 6 p.m., at chapter headquarters, 376 W. Huntington Dr. in Arcadia.

Hal McCann, chairman of the board of directors, and John Tyler, Octoberfest chairman, announced that the fund-raising event will include an unusual auction, which allows participants to ante a small amount of money in hopes of winning various prizes.

Cost of the dinner is $30 per person, and proceeds will go to the American Red Cross programs and services.

Call 447-2193 to make reservations.

New library silent auction offered

"Oysterville - Roads to Grandpa's Village," a true story of four American families who left the Eastern seaboard to go West, is one of the 10 selections offered in the new silent auction sponsored by the Friends of the Arcadia Public Library. The books will be on display in the circulation area of the library through Oct. 22.

Other selections include "The Rand McNally Encyclopedia of Military Aircraft, 1914-1980" by Enezo Angelucci; "The Executive" by Philip Louis Gabriel and illustrations by Virgil Partch; "California, Land of New Beginnings," a biography of the state by David Lavender; and "English and American Furniture," a book dealing with 16th-19th century furniture by Herbert Cesscinsky and George Leland Hunter.

Also included in the upcoming silent auction offerings are "Andrei Sakharov Memoirs," translated from Russian by Richard Lourie; "Famous and Curious Cemeteries," with 256 monumental photos; "Palmistry, the Art of Reading Hands" by Jean-Michell Morgan; "Cathedral Cities of England" by George Gilbert in 1908; and "Poems for Peter, 1928" and "More Poems for Peter, 1931" by Lysbeth Boyd Borie and illustrated with scissor cuts by Lisl Hummel.

Arcadia Scene

by JoAnn Scott

Readers of this column are, from time to time, subjected to musings of personal happenings...such is the case this week, as I have just returned from spending five delightful days with my daughter and her husband in Connecticut. The excuse for the trip, if an excuse is needed, was to attend a baby shower held in Kim's honor.

Kim and I seemed bent on giving true meaning to the expression "shop until you drop" as we spent two very full days oohing and aahing over baby clothes and many of the goodies manufacturers would make us believe are essential to the baby's survival and/or happiness..

While there are still the likes of playpens, high chairs, strollers and car seats, their diversity and design have changed considerably since my last baby was born almost 26 years ago.

Kim's baby is due in about four weeks, and she plans to work for another 10 days before focusing on motherhood. Of course, my husband and I'll go back after the arrival of our first grandchild, and, I'm sure, readers of this column will be subjected to tales from a proud, excited grandma.

Yesterday, Sept. 28, was named Arcadia Welfare and Thrift Shop day by the Arcadia City Council, which recognized the welfare facility's 62 years of community service. The nonprofit organization, which was started by a Holly Avenue Elementary School teacher and PTA moms to furnish clothes for needy children during the Depression, helps people who have financial, family and personal problems.

Bob Harbicht and Jim Kuhn are new members of the Welfare and Thrift Shop Board of Directors, coordinators of turkey dinners for needy families at Thanksgiving and a White Christmas project, which, last year, made the holiday season brighter for 233 families.

Givers of good deeds also include Arcadia Elks Lodge 2025, which held its recent City Appreciation Dinner, when $1000 was given to both the Arcadia Police and Fire Departments.

City dignitaries attending the dinner were Janet and Councilman Dennis Lojeski, Mayor Mary and Dick Young and former Mayor Floretta Lauber as well as Chief Neal Johnson of the Arcadia PD and Chief Jerry Gardner of the Fire Department.

John Hurley, former manager of the local Elks, won a television set, the top prize in a drawing.

The Civitan Club of Arcadia was named an Honor Club for the 1993-94 year at the Civitan District Convention in Las Vegas, where John Lynn was honored as first in Individual Fruit Cake Sales.

Erv Riensche, Mary Ann Hamerski and JoAnn and David Given were responsible for the Arcadia club receiving the district bulletin award, and the local Civitan Club was first in Total Service to Youth for California. The award for Interclub Visitations also went to Arcadia, which took the Area Lt. Governor Travel Trophy.

Members of the Arcadia Civitan Club family who attended the District Convention were Jean and Marve Cohen, the Givens, Freda and Bud Gram, Carolyn Groom, Mary Ann Hamerski, June and Bill Hatherill, Wes Kuhn, Dorothy and John Lynn, Matt Matthews, Mary Lee and Jack Michael, Bettie and Owen Phillips, Pat and Erv Riensche, Toni Stoner and Sara Tingley.

Congratulations to the Civitans.

Mike Allison, who usually plays golf at Santa Anita Golf Course when he's not tending to business at the San Marino Stationers and Party Shop, and his wife, Barbara, went to England and Scotland with former Arcadia resident Greg Johnson and his fiance, Georgie O'Connor.

While the girls did shopping and sightseeing, the guys played golf and did a little sightseeing. The golfers played three courses which are prominent as British Open courses, the Old Course at St. Andrews, Royal St. Georges and Turnberry, where the Open was played this summer. They also played Belfry, the site of the 1993 Ryder Cup, and three mostly unknown courses, or, as Mike said, "three well-kept secrets": Duddingston in Edinburgh, Broadway in the Cotswolds and Hadleywood, in a suburb of London.

Arcadia PD uncovers telemarketing scam

Three men who allegedly bilked over 300 individuals, mostly senior citizens, for hundreds of thousands of dollars in a telemarketing scam have been arrested by the Arcadia Police Department.

Wendell Eric Jeffrey, 32, of Sunland was arrested when he picked up envelopes containing cashiers' checks and money orders which had been delivered to a mail box drop in Arcadia. When he met his "boss," Christopher James Driggins, 33, of Sunland, at the Olive Garden Restaurant on Huntington Drive in Arcadia, the latter was also arrested.

Victims, all of whom lived out of state, had been advised by telephone that they had won $5000 or $16,000, and that Warner Marketing International had sent letters telling them of the winnings but had not heard from the individuals, reported Lt. Ed Winter of the Arcadia PD. Because there were supposedly only a few days left to still be eligible for the money, the marketing company would offer to help for a processing fee of $825. If the individuals complained about the amount, the fee was often reduced and they were asked to send the money in a cashier's check or money order to an address in Arcadia.

When police officers served a search warrant at Driggins' residence, they uncovered numerous boxes of evidence containing lead sheets for sweepstakes promotionals, and a search at Jeffreys' address revealed more boxes of lead sheets as well as records indicating that he and Driggins have been involved with telemarketing scams since 1983, added Winter, who explained that evidence also involved several other marketing companies with which Driggins nd Jeffreys were associated.

In addition, the police uncovered nine other mail drop addresses throughout both the San Gabriel and San Fernando valleys as well as four check cashing locations in both areas.

The stories revealed by victims have been most disheartening, according to Winter, who told about the elderly woman who lived in a rural midwest town and who wanted to use her winning money to help her paraplegic son who was in the hospital for an operation.

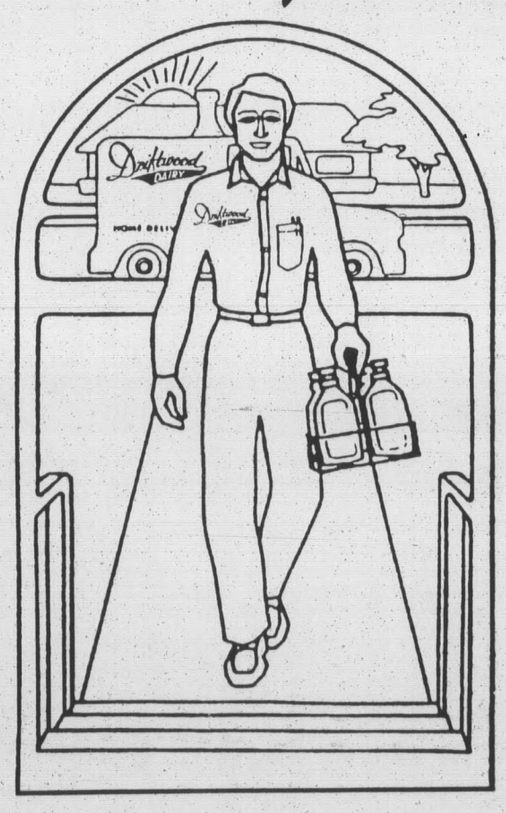

Both Driggins and Jeffreys were arraigned in Santa Anita Municipal Court on Monday when the third suspect surrendered in court. A preliminary hearing was held on Wednesday, as the Arcadia PD continues its investigation.

Shepherd scores three TDs, female kicker makes debut as Apaches beat Temple City

Arcadia High School's football team enjoyed a 22-0 first quarter lead en route to a 35-14 victory over neighboring rival Temple City on Ram turf Friday night. Two plays after taking possession of the ball, Jon Shepherd scored the first of three touchdowns and Ryan Baderian kicked the PAT. Then Brian Teets tackled the Temple City ball carrier in the endzone for a safety after a snapped ball sailed over the kicker's head.

Shepherd scored on runs of 56 yards and 44 yards and Autumn Lodwick, the first girl to play on the AHS squad, kicked the first extra point of her career.

On the first play of the second quarter, Teets scored a 26-yard run, and the Apaches went into the locker room with a 28-7 lead.

Backup junior quarterback Matt Shepherd scored on a 20-yard run in a broken option play in the fourth quarter and Lodwick made good on her second attempt, before Temple City scored at the end of the game.

Shepherd finished the game with 177 yards on 16 carries, and quarterback Jason Wagner had 33 yards on two carries. he also completed one pass for 11 yards in the first offensive play of the game .

Defensively, Baderian had one interception, Daisuke Watanabe and Brian Reichart each recovered a fumble and Jeff Kuhlberg had two sacks, while Teets, Cam Lewark and Brad Bedell each had one sack. Teets led with seven unassisted tackles and Lewark had five unassisted tackles and six assisted tackles. Baderian added five assists.

Autumn Lodwick

Coach Doug Smith said he was shocked by the results of the first quarter. "I didn't think it was going to be that kind of game. It (the game) just got away from Temple City."

Smith also said that he thinks the 35-14 victory is the best win Arcadia has had over a Temple City team.

Regarding the first girl to actually play for Arcadia, Smith said she has been received pretty well; she doesn't miss a practice. He also said that there was probably some resentment in the beginning, but that last week's performance solidified her position on the team.

The Apaches will face Blair at PCC on Friday, Sept. 30 for a 7:30 p.m. kickoff. Blair, with a 0-3 record, is coming off a 6-49 loss to Santa Monica. Last year, Arcadia won a 28-0 decision over Blair.

Alhambra beats Bulldogs

With 38 seconds left on the game clock, Pasadena High School's Chris McAlister connected on a 10-yard scoring pass to Lester Towns to bring the Bulldogs to within two points of Alhambra in non-league action on Friday night.

Pasadena recovered the onside kick and drove the ball to Alhambra's 40-yard line when McAlister, who had been injured on the third play of the game, threw an interception, ending the game at 21-19 in favor of Alhambra.

Pasadena's Mike Green took the opening kickoff and ran it 96 yards for the first score of the game, but Alhambra dominated the rest of the half, going into the locker room with a 14-6 advantage.

Corey Hawley drove the ball into endzone from one-yard out for a Bulldog score in the third quarter.

Pasadena had entered the game with a 2-0 record, but played "badly" and with "no intensity" against Alhambra, said coach Jack Loos. "It's not so much that they beat us, we lost. Alhambra played well; they wanted it (the win) more," added Loos.

"We were flat," added the coach, who explained that his team is having a hard time handling success, that players are unable to push to a higher level. However, Loos said that Monday's practice was the best day of practice all season.

The Bulldogs will travel for a game against Nogales of La Puente on Friday, Sept. 30, with a 7:30 p.m. kickoff. Nogales matches Pasadena's 2-1 season record with an opening loss to Upland, 21-24, and wins over Bell Gardens and Ganesha.

Baseball league seeks donations

The Sierra Madre Pony/Colt Baseball League is in need of funds for improvements to the facility at Dapper Field, announces Sandi Heller, league spokesman, who said that the volunteers who run the Pony/Colt League are interested in improving the program for the city's youth.

Because the City of Sierra Madre does not have the financial resources to contribute to this facility, the league is looking to community individuals to make tax deductible donations to aid in reaching a goal of $5000 to build a batting cage as well as other improvements to heighten the safety of the program.

Call Heller at 355-9344 for more information and send contributions to Sierra Madre Pony/Colt Baseball League, c/o Sandi Heller, 226 Auburn Avenue, Sierra Madre, Ca 91024.

Lazcano, Esquival score as La Salle loses to Valley

After the first few minutes when La Salle High school's football team found itself in a 13-0 hole, the Lancers settled down and played some good football, reported La Salle coach Lew Stueck, whose team lost a 35-14 decision to Cerritos Valley Christian, which is ranked fifth in the state Division IV poll.

Rafael Lazcano rushed for 88 yards on 26 carries, including one three-yard touchdown run, while Travis Ingrao managed 17 yards on eight carries.

Sophomore quarterback Ryan Garcia completed 11 of 26 attempts for 133 yards, one touchdown and a 2-point conversion. Tim Esquival caught the 32-yard scoring toss, and Ingrao hauled in the conversion pass.

The highlight of the game, according to Stueck, was that the team did not get down, it did not collapse when behind. "They showed a lot of character against a formidable opponent" added the coach, who explained that he was pleased with the offense led by Mike Cisternino and Jonathan Reid as well as Ingrao. He said that the team is starting to develop the ability to run the ball, which "allows us to control our own destiny."

Stueck said he was looking forward to improved defensive effort in the Santa Fe League opener on Saturday, Oct. 1, when the Lancers take on Bell-Jeff at Monrovia High School for a 7:30 p.m. game. Bell-Jeff began the season with a 2-1 record, losing a 14-13 decision to Paraclete last week.

The coach also said he was pleased with the team's progress and that he's more optimistic than he has been since the football program began four years ago.

Arcadia can't down Notre Dame

Arcadia High School's girls' volleyball team was looking to avenge a loss to Notre Dame Academy in the finals of the Arcadia Invitational when the two schools faced each other in a non-league contest last week Tuesday. However, Notre Dame, ranked fourth in Division II pre-season polls, prevailed in a three-game victory, 15-5, 15-11, 15-10.

Michelina Rice led Arcadia with 11 kills, while Nicolle Becker had seven kills, two blocks and two aces, and Amy McEntee contributed four kills and five blocks.

Arcadia, with a 3-1 record in non-tournament action, will compete against some top-ranked schools in the San Marcos Tournament in Santa Barbara on Saturday, Oct. 1. Arcadia will not have another chance to avenge the losses to Notre Dame as the latter will not compete in the tournament.

AHS tennis, Yao-Liao duo remain undefeated

With three more recent victories, the Arcadia High School girls' tennis team has increased its season record to 6-0 in pre-league action.

On Monday, the Lady Apaches beat Burroughs 12-6 as all three doubles teams won each of their games. The No. 1 doubles team of Margaret Yao and Nora Liao are undefeated for the season, while the No. 2 team of Kelly Han and Shama Jayasinghe and the No. 3 team of Florence Chung and Lina Somsouk are each 14-4 for the year.

In other action last week. Arcadia defeated South Pasadena 18-0 and downed San Marino 16-2.

Arcadia began Pacific League action with a match against Pasadena on Wednesday and will be on the road to face Hoover on Friday, Sept. 30.

Maranatha gets bye before Ontario

Maranatha High School's football game with Life Christian was cancelled because the latter has closed, giving the Minutemen a bye last week.

Maranatha, with its 2-0 record, will face unbeaten Ontario Christian for an away game on Friday, Sept. 30, 7:30 p.m.

Coach Keith Patefield said that he hopes Maranatha can capitalize on its speed against a team reported to have "huge" offensive and defensive lines. "This is a big test for us; but I think the guys are up for it," added Patefield. Ontario Christian is coming off a 6-0 victory over Bonita.

Touchdowns

Jim Brown, who retired from football in 1979, scored a total of 126 touchdowns in his career, 106 rushing and another 20 in the air.

Eaton Canyon

The Most Pars tournament sponsored by Eaton Canyon Women's Golf Club on Sept. 13 found Janet Jacques winning Flight-A with 16. Other winners in the flight were Peggy Simpson, 15; and Gretchen Herr and Helen Swanson, 14.

Flight-B winners were Ellen Proctor, 15; and Ruth Formhals, Miriam Kirkland and Flo Temmesfeld, 10.

Winners in Flight-C were Fran Wall, 16; Cleo DeGovia and Vivian Johnson, 12; and Clarice Burns, 11.

Herr won the closest-to-the-pin contest on the 12th hole.

Gretchen Herr was the winner of the Eaton Canyon Women's Golf Club Grand Prix tournament on Sept. 6. Her score was 62, good for six points.

Block won the closest-to-the-pin contest.

Best of luck to all you teams for your fine performances!

Oak Tree celebrates 25 years

The Oak Tree Racing Association will celebrate its 25th anniversary at Santa Anita, when it launches the 1994 meeting on Wednesday, Oct. 5. Post time is 12:30 p.m. Fans attending the opener will receive free commemorative steins, eighth in the Oak Tree Collectors' Series. The 1994 stein features a retrospective of the first quarter-century of Oak Tree racing, featuring Tell, who won the 1969 Autumn Days Handicap, the first stakes ever run at Oak Tree, and Kotashaan, who triumphed in last year's Breeders' Cup Turf before being named Horse of the Year.

In the traditional opening-day feature, the $75,000-added Autumn Days Handicap, fillies and mares will race about 6 1/2 furlongs on Santa Anita's downhill turf course. Big Train Farm's Mamselle Bebette, who tied a single-season Santa Anita record with four stakes wins at the 1993-94 winter/spring meeting, and Frank Stronach's Cool Air head the list of candidates for the 26th running of the Autumn Days.

Santa Anita's new look includes the Baldwin Club, a combination of what previously was the Private Turf Club and reserved box seat section on the finish line. This prime area for race viewing will be available through a variety of season packages or for a daily admission of $10. It includes a reserved seat and access to the entire, newly furbished Baldwin Club facilities.

Ishida named MVP as Maranatha wins first tournament at T.C.

Bethany Ishida was named Most Valuable Player of the Temple City Tournament, as Maranatha High School's girls' volleyball team won its first ever girls' volleyball tournament. Even when Maranatha won CIF in 1987, the girls did not win a tournament, recalled Coach Chris Pinard. The local girls, who did not lose a game at Temple City, have jumped up to a No. 2 ranking in CIF Division V.

Ishida had 31 assists in the title game against South Hills on Saturday, when Maranatha won in three games, 15-4, 15-7, 15-12. Darlene Avolio, who was named to the All-Tournament team, had 13 kills, while Kerri Rivas added nine kills, and Rochelle Joachim contributed four aces.

In the tournament opener last week Tuesday, Maranatha defeated South Pasadena, 15-1, 15-0, 15-4, as Ishida served five aces; Avolio led with five kills; and Rivas added four kills.

Against host Temple City in the semifinals, Maranatha was the winner in three games, 15-8, 15-4, 17-15. Rivas led with 10 kills, and Darlene Avolio added eight kills, while Robin Miller had six blocks.

Maranatha faced Pasadena on Tuesday and will travel for a match with La Salle on Friday, Sept. 30, with the freshman game set for 3 p.m., followed by junior varsity at 4:15 p.m. and varsity at 5:30 p.m.

Info fair, walkathon

The fourth annual free informataion fair and LDWalkathon, a joint project of the Los Angeles Chapter of the Learning Disabilities Association of California and the Los Angeles Branch of the Orton Dyslexia Society, will be held on Sunday, Oct.2, at Los Angeles Pierce College in Woodland Hills.

Exhibitors knowledgeable about learning disabilities, dyslexia and attention deficit hyperactivity disorder will be available to share their expertise with those seeking information.

The primary mission of the event is to help families understand that their intelligent children who are failing in school may have a learning disability, that adults who cannot read, write or do math may have a learning disability, according to Judy McKinley of Arcadia, a spokesperson for the annual LDWalkathon.

Registration begins at 8 a.m. and the information fair opens at 9 a.m,. For more information, call 407-4111.
